

Tenure Reduction, Retirement, and Emeriti 2011 – 2012 Report to the University Senate

From: John Nicols

We do note happily that the new policy on Emeritus status and retired staff was approved and signed by the president during the course of the spring term. I have forgotten the date.

Note that the provost has already threatened to change some of the rules by decree, namely to charge emeriti for parking when they are not under contract with the university. She is not well advised to do so.

At some point one should examine more systematically the actual privileges allowed to retired faculty and emeriti, but I suspect that this process can be postponed for a year or two so that the other more pressing issues can be dealt with.
